HERE'S the POINT

By SPENCE HELD

DOGPATCH, May 24 (Special)—I used to refer to this roost atop Point Loma as Held's Half Acre. It was a place where I retired, temporarily, from the newspaper racket to lick my wounds and gaze out across the bay at downtown San Diego and reflect what a nice quiet neighborhood we had here.

That was only a couple of years ago. Then came the little monsters—hey, what am I saying? Then came the little angels in force; they converged from all directions and shattered the peace and quiet.

However, I tried to console myself with the thought that, while all the boyish screaming didn't seem necessary, there probably wasn't anything I could do about it.

King Canute couldn't roll back the tide; and it's a cinch that an ink-stained fugitive from the roar of the mighty presses—nice going, Held—couldn't point his finger at the little angels and say, "Get the h--- out of here!"

Oh, he could say it, but what good would it do? Besides, he wasn't mad at anybody.

* * *

Dogs are different, though. I'm inclined to think that something ought to be done about barking dogs.

I can stand occasional howls and deep-throated challenges from the various mastiffs hereabouts, but when a little dog with a big voice devotes two whole days to shrill, staccato barking, it's just too much.

It was a lost week-end for me. Saturday morning I was jerked out of a peaceful snooze by an incredible high-pitched clamor that defies description. It went on and on, with a frenzied intensity.

Finally I got up and pinpointed the source. One of Man's Best Friends, chained to the other side of our fence, was expressing his extreme displeasure.

"SHUT UP!" I bellowed.

He paused for a moment, then gave tongue again and was off exploring the higher pandemonium.

Well, that went on all day. Sunday, too. My nerves were shredded; the only way I could escape the ungodly racket was to abandon most of the house as untenable and cower in a small room with the windows tightly shut and the radio on full blast.

* * *

Actually, there isn't much you can do in a case like that. It's no use talking with the dog's owner—usually he says he's training the beast not to bark by chaining him up; "and anyhow, it doesn't bother me, so why should it bother you?"

Some people poison barking dogs, or shoot them. I'm not the violent type; besides, it ain't the dog's fault. And I don't like to call the cops, either. When you blow the whistle on a neighbor it doesn't make things very pleasant around there.

I've known people to haul the owner of a barking dog into court. That doesn't appeal to me, either.

* * *

I've been on both sides of the fence in this dog business, and often in the middle. Let me explain:

Once my family had a young pointer that barked. He died in agony — undoubtedly poisoned. (That was years ago, in another part of town.)

Usually, though, I've been on the receiving end; there were always dogs whose owners chained or confined them and then went away and let the neighbors suffer.

As to being in the middle: I used to cover the old City Hall; then the Civic Center. At dozens of hearings held by the City Council and Board of Supervisors I listened to long angry debates between dog-lovers and dog-haters.

On one occasion an irate citizen got up on his hind legs, laid back his ears, and howled to high heaven in imitation of Man's Best Friend.

But the dog-lovers howled him down.

* * *

... Then there's the guy who trains his dog to attack strangers. Sometimes this backfires—as in the case of the prominent San Diegan who had as his house guest a widely-known private detective.

The sleuth got up late one night to use the facilities; his host's Great Dane came alive and trailed him down the dark hallway. He detected the Dane padding along at his heels. Flinging himself into the bathroom, he slammed the door just as the Dane leaped.

The dog crashed against the door. Then he crouched there the rest of the night, on guard, while the poor guy tried to sleep in the bathtub. (His howls didn't raise anybody.)

* * *

Personally, I like dogs. Dogs that dont bark or howl; that don't tear up the flowers and shrubs.

In other words, dogs whose owners are well-trained.

LOCAL ANGLER IS STILL TOPS IN FISH DERBY

Minimum qualifying weight in the second period of the $25,000 San Diego Yellowtail Derby soared to 20 pounds 5 ounces last weekend as anglers ran the catch for the seven-day period to 5,326 yellows, second highest mark in the eight year history of the derby.

Twice during the week, rod and reelers boosted the yellowtail take over the 1000 mark, hitting a high of 1233 last Wednesday.

A strong Southeaster cut catches over the weekend, but the wind had shifted back to normal Sunday afternoon, and a continuation of the hot run was indicated.

Largest yellow of the week proved to be a 32-6 caught by Dr. L. S. Adams, of Lemon Grove. Other top weight fish were: 30-10, Louis Bains, San Diego; 30-0, J. R. Spring, San Diego; 29-12, Joe Kokubun, Los Angeles; 28-0, R.H. Baumann, San Diego; 27-8, L. R. Nathan, San Diego, and 27-2, Robert Marcum, Los Angeles.

To Keep Fluoridation Requires 'No' On 'A'

Dr. Carl Ackerman, Ocean Beach-Point Loma campaign co-chairman for the Citizens' Committee for Children's Dental Health, today urged a No vote on Proposition A on the June 8th ballot. Dr. Ackerman pointed out that the proposition proposes the end of fluoridation. He said a No vote is a vote in favor of fluoridation.

"Our fluoridation program," he continued, "has been in effect for a year and a half. It has the approval of all recognized medical, dental and public health groups."

Dr. Ackerman also said the Citizens' Committee had received a letter from Malcolm H. Merrill, M.D., Director of Public Health for the State of California. He quoted the letter as saying:

"The protection and the improvement of the health of the people of California is the responsibility and concern of the California State Board of Public Health and the California State Department of Public Health. We feel it imperative that the people we serve know that we have judged the highly technical procedure of water fluoridation and have found it to be a safe and effective measure in controlling one of the most widespread diseases of our time—tooth decay.

"The California State Board of Public Health, the California Conference of Local Health Officers, and the California State Department of Public Health all have approved fluoridation.

"The position of these three official health organization is backed by every major health organization in this nation, including the American Medical Association, the American Dental Association, the Commission on Chronic Illness, the American Public Health Association, the National Research Council—to name but a few.

"The fluoridation of public water supplies for the improvement of the dental health of the people has been firmly established as one of the outstanding public health measures of our time."

Howell Proposes Juvenile Div.

A juvenile delinquent is a young person who neds help. The time to get that help to him is when he makes his first mistake so that he won't repeat and become a criminal.

That is the basis for dealing with the serious problem of juvenile delinquency set forth by William "Bill" Howell, candidate for Sheriff. One of Howell's major re-adjustments in the department, if elected, will be to establish a separate sheriff's division to prevent and control law violations by juveniles.

"From the time they are old enough to understand," Howell declared, "children must be taught respect. In the majority of juvenile crimes the word respect is absent from the nature of the young person. It's not in his vocabulary.

"He has no respect for law and order, for other persons or their property. An understanding of the word 'respect' is necessary for his rehabilitation. He must be taught to respect his home, parents, teacher, schools, church, the law and its enforcement officers."

Wilbur Easton Is Candidate For Collector

Administraition of the highly technical business of the Tax Collector's office by an inexperienced person could be extremely costly and unsatisfactory to the taxpayers, Wilbur W. Easton, candidate, declared yesterday.

He said that the office collects some $48 million and employs up to 90 persons and, with the resignation of the present Collector, will continue to operate smoothly and efficiently only if the new Collector to be elected is familiar with the job.

Easton gave as his qualification 21 years in the office of Tax Collector, the last six of them chief deputy and administrative assistant.

SEWER BOND FIGHT GETS HOT

OCEAN BEACH—This scene, taken out of season, shows part of the beach recreation area now enjoyed by tourists and residents. The Sewer Bond Research Committee says there is a strong possibility that bathing and fishing waters would be contaminated by the proposed Point Loma sewage plant and ocean outfall.—M. Maconnell photo.

Local Research Group Is In There Punching

Controversy over the proposed 16-million-dollar sewer bond issue was heating up rapidly this week with approach of the June 8 election date.

Major developments came thick and fast as the Sewer Bond Research Committee, headed by Tom Drake, fought it out with the Metropolitan San Diego Sewer Bond Committee in a city-wide campaign. Developments included:

1—Drake and S. Leland Bull of the Research Committee appeared at the La Jolla Town Council meeting to oppose a move for the council to endorse the sewer bonds. No action was taken by the council after their appearance, Drake reported.

2—The Dana Junior High School PTA adopted a resolution protesting the action of the 9th District PTA Board in endorsing the sewer bonds without consulting the units.

3—The Scripps Institution of Oceanography at La Jolla released copies of a letter sent last week to City Manager O. W. Campbell by Roger Revelle, director, and C. D. Wheelock, acting director, Institute of Marine Resources.

This suggested steps which should be taken by the City whereby "the disadvantage of ocean disposal can probably be reduced below the level of practical objection."

4—According to a report by Lloyd Aldrich, Los Angeles City Engineer, dug up by Drake, the coastal waters in the vicinity of the White's Point Sewage Treatment Plant "are contaminated, shellfish areas and kelp beds have been destroyed, and commercial and sportfishing areas have been threatened by the discharge of District sewage."

(The White's Point plant has been publicized as "the closest model" for the proposed Point Loma plant and ocean outfall.)

5—The Metropolitan Sewer Bond Committee announced organization of a "Point Loma Residents and Property Owners for the Sewer Bonds Committee."

6—Drake reported that KFSD-TV had cancelled his appearance on a program last Saturday after "the other side" refused to participate.

O. B. CHAMBER

7—The Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce and Kiwanis Club adopted formal resolutions against the sewer bonds. (They had previously taken informal action.)

These declared the cost of the sewer system "could go as high as 25 million dollars and more, instead of the contemplated $16 million."

At the La Jolla Town Council meeting last Wednesday night, S. Leland Bull told the 200 present that the city tax rate would be raised about 10 percent by the sewer bond issue, Drake reported.

"The meeting was held, primarily, to approve the earlier action of the board of trustees in approving the sewer bonds," said Drake. "They didn't bring the matter up after the crowd's reaction to the talks."

As to the Dana PTA, Mrs. Robert W. Town, of 3654 Dupont St., legislation chairman, reported the resolution protesting action of the 9th District Board was adopted by unanimous vote of the quorum present.

The resolution pointed out that state PTA by-laws provide that in such matters as endorsement of a bond issue a majority of the units must be in agreement, she said.

Revelle and Wheelock, in the Scripps Institution letter to Campbell, stated "the possible disadvantage of off-shore discharge is that the area of existing kelp beds and valuable marine animals may be reduced, unless a suitable area and method of disposal are chosen."

They recommend the sewage effluent be discharged "as far from shore and from kelp beds as practicable," in deep water where ocean currents are favorable.

Campbell replied that "the City will not gamble even in the slightest degree where our important marine resources are involved."

Drake commented yesterday that some of the Scripps scientists "do not approve of the City's Core Plan A-1 but are prevented from saying so by the attitude of the director, Revelle, in approving the plan."

"The proposed Point Loma sewage plant and outfall, pouring 50 to 100 million gallons of sewage into the ocean daily, could very easily injure our tourist industry by contaminating the bathing beaches," he added.

Drake said the action of ocean currents is unpredictable from year to year and "no complete studies have been made of the currents in the area opposite the proposed plant site."

METRO COMMITTEE

A "Point Loma Residents and Property Owners for the Sewer Bonds Committee" is being organized, it was announced yesterday by Chester L. Dorman, a co-chairman of the Metropolitan San Diego Sewer Bond Committee.

The organization move was started, Dorman said, after Reuben Fleet, a Point Loma resident who has extensive property holdings in the area, asserted "the 16-million dollar sewer bond issue is the only solution to our problem brought on by the phenomenal growth of San Diego."

Point Loma residents on the committee who have endorsed the sewer bond issue on which voters decide June 8 include Harley Knox, Herbert Kunzel, Edward C. Schwarz, Mrs. Stanley Bolton, Hans C. Olsen, L. W. Boltz, T. G. Armstrong and Edward C. Hall.

Also, Robert M. Golden, Ralph W. Wallace, Loy V. Hill, William P. Elser, William R. Patrick, R.. Sherman Platt, Joseph L. Williams, David Thompson, Ray T. Blair, A. I. Dickman, Thomas Hamilton, Charles K. Fletcher, Arthur Wells, F. F. Evenson, H. W. Dingwell, E. B. Wenner, D. L. Blackman, Ed Nordstrom, M. D. Jenkins, J. J. Corselli, and Fleet.

Other Point Loma residents will be invited to become members of the committee, Dorman said.

Holiday Monday

With Memorial Day falling on Sunday, Monday will be observed as a holiday.

The Ocean Beach branch of the Bank of America will be closed. Most stores in O. B. also will close for the holiday, it was reported.

Memorial Day Warning Issued

"Four, two none." This is what the San Diego County Traffic Safety Council hopes the statistical trend will be for traffic fatalities in the County over the forthcoming Memorial Day weekend.

In issuing strong words of caution and care for driving safely during 1954's first three-day holiday, Fred Rohr, president of the Council pointed out that the County traffic death record in 1952 for this period was four, in 1953 it was two and the goal for this year is none.

"Traditionally the week-end including May 30 has been a black and saddened period througout our nation because of deaths and injuries due to traffic collisions. Last year two persons died on San Diego County highways during that period. The year before the toll was four. This year we are hoping for a deathless week-end and caution and courtesy on the part of every driver and pedestrian will make it possible," Rohr said.

Rohr advised persons to plan their holiday trips in advance, not to take "spur of the moment" excursions. Also, they should see that their cars are in sound mechanical shape and that they allow plenty of time for driving to and from their destination, he added.

With more persons on the roads and highways this week-end than at any time so far this year, residents of San Diego County and visitors to this area will be put to a severe test if the traffic fatality reduction record is to be maintained. The deaths due to automobile accidents during the first four and one-half months of 1954 showed a 21 per cent decrease as compared with the same period of 1953, the Traffic Safety Council reported.

State-Wide Water Plan Favored By Fred Kraft

The San Diego area must plan far into the future to assure the water supply that will be needed to keep pace with growth, according to State Sen. Fred Kraft.

Approaching completion of the second barrel of the aqueduct will meet immediate requirements through doubling the supply of Colorado River water, he said. As that source is not inexhaustible because of Southern California's increasing demands, more distant sources must be studied.

"A statewide water plan is imperative to assure the state's uninterrupted development," Sen. Kraft asserted. "The proposed Feather River project, in my opinion has priority.

"There are areas of abundant supply and these must be tapped. The legislature can be depended upon to work out a solution for distribution that will be equitable to all sections of the state. In this I intend to take an active part."

Kraft has received endorsement of his candidacy for re-election from the Allied Health Professions, a state-wide group, it was announced by his campaign manager, Jim Heaverside.

The endorsement, in the words of Ben H. Read, of San Francisco, executive secretary of the group, "is in recognition of Sen. Kraft's interest in good public health legislation and the maintaining of high professional standards."

Comprising Allied Health Professions are the Medical, State Dental, Hospital and Pharmaceutical Associations; Public Health League

Mrs. Abbie Gail Karl Retires From Teaching At O. B. School

One of the most well-known and beloved teachers of the Ocean Beach area is retiring this year. Mrs. Abbie Gail Karl, second grade teacher at the Ocean Beach Elementary School, will retire this June after twenty-nine years of service to the children of this community. She has also taught four years at the Pacific Beach Elementary School.

In honor of her retirement, the staff of the Ocean Beach school recently held a banquet and party. All the faculty members contributed their talents to making the evening a wonderful success. Mrs. Mary O'Brien, daughter of the honored guest, was also in attendance.

Following the dinner, Mrs Karl was asked to sit on the stage and a version of the program "This Is Your Life" was enacted. This humorous program dramatized various episodes in her life as a teacher.

As a climax to the evening, Mrs. Karl was presented with a television set from the Ocean Beach staff and other teaching associates in San Diego.

Asked as to what her future plans are, she said that she will do some traveling. Also she said that now she would be able to spend more time with her daughter.

Mrs. Karl mentioned that she is especially looking forward to being able to spend more time in her home on Del Monte street just taking it easy and enjoying the view.

Navy orders brought Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Westberg from Minneapolis, Minn. to San Diego, and they are in Ocean Beach making their home in the 4700 block on Orchard Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rhoads Jr. recently from National City, have leased a home in the 4400 block on Orchard Avenue. Their son, John is in the Airforce and is studying at the language school in Monterey.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Stroud, 407 Carmelo Street, became parents of a daughter, born May 19. The couple have two other children. Mr. Stroud is a scientist at Naval Electronics Laboratory.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hanna, 4615 Larkspur street, are back home following a two weeks trip into northern California. The trip was especially taken to visit their children in Petaluma and in and around San Francisco.

Concluding Clarke Lecture June 1st

For the concluding lecture of the 1954 "Adventures in Living" series in San Diego, philosopher John Robert Clarge will inquire into the nature of clear thinking in confused times, when he presents "How to Know What We Believe," Tuesday, June 1, at 8:00 p.m., at Old San Diego Chamber of Commerce Hall.

"The warning of history," says Mr. Clarke, "is that people are cruelly punished for failure to question the beliefs they live by. Their beliefs are not really thir own, but are merely styles of mental clothing, seldom examined for serviceability or fit. It have always been easier to blame nature or a loved one for the discomfort of our own psychic clothing." Tracing some of the stranger "echo-beliefs" back through the ages to their origin, Mr. Clarke will propose techniques for separating what we really beliece from the hand-me-down-notions that prevent people from making their own acquaintance.

It was learned that the summer "Hearthside Series" of lectures, originally slated to begin this week, has been delayed for two weks until the conclusion of Clarke's senior Shakespeare course at San Diego State College. Reservations for Tuesday's Oldtown lecture are still available, according to Mrs. Mary Fowler, in charge of public events at Oldtown Chamber of Commerce.

Retarded Children To Benefit From Deta Theta Tau

The San Diego Association for Retarded Children will hold their monthly meeting at 8:00 o'clock tonight in the Alice Birney Elementary School auditorium.

A full program includes the Delta Theta Tau sorority's donation of the proceeds from their recent fashion show, the Association's annual election of officers, and Miss Gertrude Blackstock, psychiatric social worker from the Los Angeles Department of Mental Hygiene, will speak on "Problems of the Parents with Retarded Children."

During the past 10 years, the total number of local school districts in the United States has been reduced by more than one-fourth.

Cabrillo Club Aids Those In Nazareth Home

Children of Nazareth Home in Mission Valley will be made happier by the thoughtfulness of the Cabrillo Civic Club of Point Loma. Under the sponsorship of tuna boat owners, movies will be shown to the children twice each week, with pictures and shorts chosen especially for them. The children will also be treated to refreshments. The project undertaken will continue throughout next year. Heading the committee are Art Souza and Leslie Perry.

The club reports that Richard George, a senior at Point Loma High School, has qualified for a scholarship that each year the organization awards to some outstanding student.

In April a flower vase was so attractive it was raffled off among members and a donation of $4.00 was turned into the Cancer drive.

On May 29th with Mrs. Margaret Nunez as chairman, the Charity Ball will be held at the S.E.S. Hall. Tickets may be reserved by calling Mrs. Nunez at AC-2-8371, or they may be obtained at the door. Proceeds of the ball will go to the Casa De Cuna Orphanage in Tijuana.

The one big event of the club year, Cabrillo Day, has been set for sometime in September.

E. J. Hall Paid Tribute By Scouts

A surprise sack lunch was held Friday in the Cabrillo School auditorium honoring Lt. Cdr. E. J. Hall, the retiring Scoutmaster of Troop 223. Mr. Hall was presented a statuette of a Boy Scout by the boys of his group. Michael Dickman, the senior patrol leader was spokesman for the scouts.

Roy Partain of the Point Loma Kiwanis, sponsoring group of the troop, acted as master of ceremonies. Bill Kearns, president of the Kiwanis, presented a scroll to Hall. This was in tribute to guidance and character building which was stressed during Hall's reign as scoutmaster.

Leandro Corriea conducted the presentation of the flag. He is one of four explorers from the troop who will attend the junior leader training program at Philmont Ranch in New Mexico. This was a signal honor to Hall in that four out of five boys who will attend the ranch are from his troop. The other three are James Stuart, Bob Meler and Mike Hall.

Seventy persons were in attendance at this tribute.

New TB Cases Increase Here

New tuberculosis cases in San Diego County are at the highest peak since 1950, according to the San Diego County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

There were 400 new cases of tuberculosis reported in San Diego County during 1953, marking an increase of 43 over the year before.

There was a slight drop in the number of new cases reported within the city of San Diego itself last year.

Statistics compiled annually by the health department show that sharp increases in the case rates in four major communities and unincorporated areas in the county were responsible for the rise in the total case rate for San Diego County during 1953.

Health department statistics revealed that the following cities in the county showed an increase in the number of new cases reported per 100,000 population:

Chula Vista jumped from 32-4 in 1952 to 102.0 last year; El Cajon increased from 138.7 to 173.4; La Mesa, 53-1 to 106.2; Escondido, 103. 8to 163.1; and unincorporated areas, 33.7 to 50.5.

On the brighter side of the coin, the tuberculosis death rate in the county continued to decline last year, dropping from a death rate of 10.4 per 100,000 population in 1952 to 7.5 in 1953. However, in spite of the fact that tuberculosis is a contagious, long-term disease, one out of every two deaths were unknown or unreported cases prior to death.

Silver Gate PTA

The last meeting of Silver Gate's outgoing board was a barbecue supper Monday, May 24 at 6:30 p.m., in the school's patio, built last summer by the PTA fathers.

Mrs. Ormal I. Sprungman, the incoming president, and the elected members of her board were in charge of the arrangements.
